A CARD.

Because of affliction and age which renders me incapable of continuing business, I now retire from the Book trade, leaving my entire stock and interest in the hands of Messrs. Branson and Farrer—except the publication of the "N. C. Almanac," which, I trust will be received with the same favor as heretofore.

In retiring, I return my sincere thanks for the very liberal patronage which the public has chosen to bestow upon me during the last half century—the length of time in which I have been engaged in the book trade in this State—and cheerfully recommend to my old friends and patrons, my successors. Messrs. Branson & Farrer, by whom, I am sure they will be satisfactorily accommodated.

Mr. H. D. Coley, so well known to the Book trade and to the public, and so long engaged in business with me will be retained as an assistant in business with Messrs. Branson & Farrer. He invites his old friends to call upon him.

REMOVED TO

The North Carolina Book Store,

THE OLD AND POPULAR BOOK STAND,

So long kept by Mr. Henry D. Turner, No. 1,

Fayetteville Street, Raleigh,

ON CORNER NEAR THE STATE HOUSE.

MR. H. D. TURNER, who for thirty-three years past, has been a large publisher and bookseller, now retires from active business, leaving his entire stock in the hands of

BRANSON & FARRER.

The stock consists of an extensive collection of English and American Law Books.

Besides, a great variety of school and miscellaneous works. Mr. H. D. Coley, so long Mr Turner's representative will still be found at the old stand.

With this valuable addition to our former extensive stock, we hope very greatly to enlarge our usefulness to the trade. We will use our best efforts to secure the continued good will of our old customers, and also those of the North Carolina Book Store.

FOR GOVERNOR,

JONATHAN WORTH,

OF RANDOLPH.

Gov. Worth and the Newbern Times.

We believe, so far as we have seen, the press of the State has given, at least, a courteous notice, if not entirely endorsing it, to Gov. Worth's circular, with only one or two exceptions. One of these is the Newbern Times. We would hardly have looked for a ready and hearty support of Gov. Worth, from that paper; yet its apparently more Southern sympathies of late led us to expect, at least, more ingenuousness from that quarter.

The Times, after a harsh and wholly unfounded attack upon the Circular, dictated either by careless reading of it, or by its pent-up malice, because of the Waterloo defeat which its peculiar friends experienced in the late elections, wipes its mouth and says:

"We have nothing against Gov. Worth, personally, as a man, nor are we disposed to complain of his administration of our State Government," &c.

Such salvos come with an ill-grace after a severe assault upon a gentleman and public officer, which clearly implicates his personal character!

The Times had characterized the circular as a remarkable paper—as direct, yet indirect, as plain, yet obscure, as simple yet not simple, as clear but non-committal, but ingeniously planned and "a well constructed political drag net, designed to catch all the different kinds of political fishes that swim in the muddy waters of our State politics." Further, the Times admits that Gov. Worth says he is a Union man, but that is too indefinite. Demagogues and party hacks—Thad. Stevens and President Johnson do the same, but the Times cannot tell which side he is on. It really does not know, which of the two, the Standard or the Sentinel, is the recognized exponent of Gov. Worth's Unionism.

And yet it has nothing, personally, as a man (?) against Gov. Worth, &c. It has nothing against him, though he has played the demagogue and deceiver, with design! It thinks the Governor a clever man, yet a two-sided trickster with a bad design! He is so non-committal, so obscure and designedly obscure, that it cannot tell which side he is on, Thaddeus Stevens' or President Johnson's—with the Standard or with the Sentinel,—yet it has nothing against him personally, as a man! We protest, the Times can bring nothing against Gov. Worth as a woman. We declare he is every inch, a man.—Moreover, it is entitled to a medal for its acuteness, in not being able to discover the character of Gov. Worth's Unionism from his circular.

If the circular has stated anything clearly, it is that Gov. Worth was decidedly with President Johnson, before the war and since the war. If there is anything apparent or transparent in the circular, it is that Gov. Worth wholly ignores the radicalism both of Thad. Stevens and the Standard, and yet the very acute writer for the Times cannot see it.

Now, if Gov. Worth is a trickster, a deceiver by design, as the Times asserts, we could have no confidence in him personally, as a man, nor would we support him for any office. For the same reason we have no confidence in the friendship or good opinion of the Times for Gov. Worth. Its professed friendship cannot deceive us, after so ungenerous and unfounded a critique upon his circular.

Constitutional Amendments.

Much difference of opinion seems to exist as to whether or not proposed amendments to the Constitution are legally within the range of the Presidential veto.

Practically, the question is an unimportant one, for the reason that amendments to the Constitution must receive a two-thirds vote of each House, and the vote which could pass them originally could, of course, pass them by the same two-thirds over a veto.

FREEDMEN IN THE TOWNS.—The Newbern Commercial mentions, as one of the most gratifying signs of the times, that the Freedmen, who flocked to the towns in such large numbers from the rural districts, after the cessation of the war, are gradually becoming more few in our midst. Finding that their recently acquired freedom does not exempt them from the toil entailed upon all the children of Adam, and that a town residence is more pleasant in theory than in reality, they are slowly returning whence they came, and taking up the shovel and the hoe with an alacrity, which, if not genuine, is at least very acceptable to our order-loving population. As they go, may peace and happiness go with them.

SPEECHES ON HAND.—We have yet on hand a considerable number of copies of our paper, containing the speeches of Messrs. Bynum and Conigland upon the subject of the White Basis. Those desiring them can be supplied at reasonable rates.

THE GOOD CITIZENS of Wilmington are suffering from an entire deprivation of ice. Why, even here in the interior, we are doing better than that. We have plenty, and to spare.

While it is very probable, yea, almost certain, that we shall warmly support the Governor this summer, we ask do the facts bear out this statement? In scanning the list of appointments made last winter does the name of a single Democrat appear? The Sentinel cannot mean to insinuate that no man of worth could be found within the fold of that old party, which was in a very large majority, and which shaped the policy of the State for the previous ten years. We are opposed, we repeat, to reviving old issues, but all true men should have an equal showing. Governor Worth owed his last election, and will owe it again this summer, if elected, to the unselfish support of this same party, whose existence he ignores in his appointments, and in the distribution of his patronage. This thing must stop, or a third candidate will be brought out, and then, we ask, what would be the Governor's chance for re-election? Echo answers what!—Charlotte Times.

Our friend, Waring, has, on more than one occasion, thrown out remarks similar to the above, in order to draw out the Sentinel. We have passed them by, simply because we doubted our ability to satisfy entirely our cotemporary. Prejudices, which arise from impressions that men are ignored simply because of their partizan predilections, are difficult to be removed, by a simple newspaper paragraph, and we have not had time or space to give an elaborate or lengthy exposition.

We observe that many of our Democratic friends have fallen into the error, that the last Legislature was an out and out Worth body.—It was neither a Worth nor Holden Legislature, strictly. The peculiar views of either the men elected, or of the people in the several Counties, controlled its action, especially in the elections, far more than either the influence of Gov. Worth or Gov. Holden. Hence the votes of the body were not uniform. It had no specific partizan character. We had labored to make the issue in the canvass not one between Union men and secessionists—nor between Democrats and Whigs—for we discarded wholly those old issues as we do now. But the distinct and only issue we labored to make then, and we think for the sake of our Federal relations and our quiet at home the only one we ought to make now, is whether radicalism or straitsectism should rule in North Carolina, or Johnsonism and a liberal policy towards all our people should prevail. This issue was not made in many of the Counties.

In many places it was a simple choice between the two candidates in view of their records. The majority preferred Gov. Worth, but many of them did not feel themselves bound by the issue we presented, for that issue was not made in their Counties. Hence, as we said before, the body had no decided party character. Under those circumstances Gov. Worth was in no way responsible for the elections or action of the Legislature. So far as we can now remember, every gentleman who was elected to office by the Legislature, who had co-operated with or voted for Gov. Holden, had a far greater personal popularity with the Legislature than Gov. Holden had. Hence they were voted for by men who felt they were under no party obligations, which in several instances defeated the Democratic friends of Gov. Worth. This we believe contains the whole truth in reference to the elections by the Legislature.

But the Times is incorrect in saying that no Democrat appears in the list. The whole organization of the Senate was Democratic. The assistant Clerk of the House was a Democrat. The Times will find others, if it will search.—In fact, but few Democrats were candidates, and in every instance where they were defeated, it was by the influences above named, and that too when the Sentinel urged their claims.

So far as the patronage of the Governor is concerned directly, it is very small. But we may safely say, that in dispensing the few positions under the control of the Governor, in no instance has he ignored the claims of his Democratic friends, because they were Democrats. We believe in every instance where the claims of a Democrat have been presented to him, Gov. Worth has as cheerfully considered them and shown his appreciation of them, as he has those of any other citizen. This he has done without feeling, in the least, that he had compromised either his own principles or the true interests of the State.

Death of Hon. W. W. Seaton.

The telegraph announces to us the death of this distinguished gentleman, at his residence in Washington, on Saturday last, at the advanced age of 81. Mr. Seaton was, for fifty years, connected with the National Intelligencer, —always a perfect model of journalism,—and, in connection with his eminent associate, Mr. Gales, gave tone, dignity and character to the profession. He was for many years Mayor of Washington,—an office of much prominence in view of the peculiar relations of the District of Columbia to the general government,—and filled the position with ability and great acceptance to the people.

Mr. Seaton was in all respects an accomplished and polished gentleman, whose elevation of character and affability of manners attracted to him a large number of personal friends.—Perhaps no man, save his lamented partner, was ever so popular in the City of Washington. He was a native of Virginia, but in early life moved to North Carolina, where he married, in this city, a daughter of Joseph Gales, founder of the Raleigh Register. He was for a short while, prior to his removal to Washington, associated with Mr. Gales in the management of the Register.

LEE'S LAST CAMPAIGN.—We are indebted to the publishers, Messrs. W. B. Smith & Co., for a very neat copy of a pamphlet of 75 pages, entitled "Lee's Last Campaign, with an accurate history of Stonewall Jackson's last Wound, by Capt. J. C. Gorman," of this city.

We have read the little volume with pleasure, and regard it as a good contribution to our own war history. Capt. G. was a gallant soldier in that war; and, by the way, during its progress, was one of the most graphic of the army correspondents. We remember several spirited sketches from his pen.

Maj. Gee,—A Highly Gratifying Rumor.

It is rumored, we rejoice to say, though we have no official authority for believing it, that the decision of the Commission, which has so patiently investigated his case, is a unanimous acquittal of Major John H. Gee, who has passed for the last three months the most searching and rigorous scrutiny of a court and prosecuting officer, who could scarcely have been otherwise than prejudiced against him in the outset, because of the many harsh and damaging rumors which had been so industriously circulated, not only against the Salisbury prison, but against Major Gee as its superintendent.

For the sake of the government, for the sake of the future of the Court and for the sake of truth, justice and humanity, we trust the rumor is correct. If true, it will obliterate the idea, which may have been held by many, that the government is reckless and chargeable with the desire to shed innocent blood—it will wipe out the false charges that Military Commissions are always formed to convict—it will place the Court on elevated ground, and show that military men can rise above the heat and fury of a bloody fraticidal war, to do justice to innocence, virtue and humanity. For, as we have said before, the evidence adduced by the defence afforded the highest legal and moral proof, of the innocence of the accused, we recollect ever to have seen.

But we cannot close this brief notice, without expressing our estimate of what is due to Col. Holland, and to Col. Wilder, though a Northern man, for the industry, untiring energy and ability with which they have conducted the defence. The case, at first, seemed to be environed with difficulties impossible to be overcome.—Rumor had fixed a thousand adverse impressions in some minds,—prejudice had mustered all its forces against their client. But Col. Holland had known Major Gee from his youth, and Col. Wilder had known him only to love him, and they resolved to beat back and overcome, at any cost of labor and toil and expense, these prejudices, to save their innocent friend from an ignominious and tragic end. They were sure of his innocence, and hence they never tired in their efforts to save him. And the country, and Florida especially, whose favored son Maj. Gee is, will never forget their ardent and sacrificing labors. Nor can we do otherwise than award to Judge Advocate Walcott great energy and ability in the prosecution. He certainly did the government full justice, nor did he flag in his purpose and hope of making good the bill of indictment, until the powerful array of evidence brought forward by the defence, swept away every vestige of suspicion as to the guilt of the accused.

Should this rumor be correct, the whole country will rejoice, at the vindication of an innocent and good man.

Colored Schools.

The Newbern Times objects to what it calls our fling, a few days ago, at the "school marms," as gratuitous and in bad taste. The Times and the Sentinel, judging from the general tone of that paper, will hardly agree about "tastes."—That paper has a Northern taste, peculiarly Northern, while the tastes of the Sentinel are constitutionally Southern.

We have a proper sympathy for the welfare of the colored race, but we do not prefer its welfare to the ruin of the Southern whites.—Hence, we insist upon it, that however patriotic, or charitable, or well meaning, Northern pseudo-philanthropists may be, in sending Northern teachers to educate the blacks of the South, we are adverse to the scheme, because we believe it will be positively injurious to the blacks, and must result, as its effects already show, in positive antagonism between the two races, who should live together as long as Providence places them in the same country, in harmony and friendship, and in mutual dependence upon each other, that they may become a mutual help and benefit.

We do not regard it as a degradation to any white person to become a teacher of the blacks. This the Southern people have always been, though we admit to too limited an extent.—Our article contained no fling, no invidious reflection upon the "school marms," only as teachers whose views are known to be entirely antagonistic to Southern sentiments, habits and tastes. Whether men or women from the North come among us as teachers, with known violent and unfounded prejudices against the Southern white people, we object to them. Northern males or females, with different and more correct views of Southern society, with more charity for our people, and with a set purpose to discourage and discountenance every species of teaching which tends to alienate the two races, to such we would not object. But so far as our information extends, we are obliged to believe, that the disposition, on the part of those Northern teachers who have been sent out, to encourage among the blacks, at least by their example, erroneous notions of social equality, and by their instructions to impress upon them the idea of hostility against them, on the part of Southern white people purely because of their color, and to excite special dislike and hatred to those who were participants in the late revolution, is general, and it forms the ground of our objection to them as suitable instructors of the colored race.

Moreover, we have enough competent white persons reared up among them, who are better adapted, as well as competent colored persons, though not enough of them, to give them instruction, and who might find it a necessary means of living, were they not crowded out by those who are sent by Northern associations to afford them gratuitous instruction.

Additional Pardons.

Pardons have been received at the Executive office for the following named persons, viz:

William B. Atwell, Rowan county; George W. Purify, Orange county; W. R. Holt, Davidson county; David Murphy, Cumberland county; L. Bethune, Cumberland county; S. A. Norfleet, Bertie county; Lewis Cotton, Bertie county; W. B. Edmundson, Wayne county; James M. Jones, Wake county; Redding Jones, Wake county.

Radicalism in the Convention.

On yesterday, while the Convention was engaged on the Constitution, in fixing the qualifications for State Senators, after the property qualification was fixed, Mr. Bryan, the delegate from Wilkes County, who, by the way, served as Captain in the Federal army during a part of the war, arose and offered an amendment, requiring, in addition thereto, that State Senators shall have always been loyal to the U. S. government! The announcement created quite a fluttering among those with whom Capt. B. has been co-operating, and he was induced to withdraw it, but not until Judge Howard called for the yeas and nays. This motion ought to have precluded the withdrawal, but the Chair, (Judge Buxton,) we understand, allowed him to withdraw it. It may surprise some of our readers, but we are told that a small minority stood ready to vote for the amendment. We regret that they were not allowed to put themselves on the record. We are glad to add that a gentleman told us that it could not in any event have obtained but three votes.

Gov. Vance's Recent Address.

We are gratified at having it in our power to inform our readers that we shall be able, in the course of a few days, to present, in the columns of the Sentinel, the Address of Gov. Vance before the two Literary Societies at the Commencement of the University.

The publication of the Address will justify all that has been said in its favor. No similar effort was ever delivered before under such peculiar circumstances, but Gov. Vance proved himself equal to this as to every previous emergency.

In its merely literary features, it would have reflected credit upon one enjoying greater leisure for devotion to such pursuits than the author has enjoyed. But it was in its patriotic inspirations, its sagacious counsels, and its judicious and conservative character, that it was so eminently successful and so able and well-timed.

Collection of Taxes.

It will be seen that the Convention has passed an ordinance, on its second reading, extending the time for the Sheriffs to make their returns of taxes until the first of January next.

STATE CONVENTION.

ADJOURNED SESSION.

MONDAY, June 18, 1866.

The session was opened with prayer by Rev. J. M. Atkinson, of the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Wright, for the Finance Committee, to whom was referred a communication from the Governor in regard to the great seal of the State, reported an ordinance to repeal section 20, ch. 53, of the Revised Code, in regard to the seal.

Mr. McRae introduced a resolution against entertaining any ordinances or resolutions of a legislative character, from and after to-day, and it was adopted.

The ordinance to pay Provisional Judges of Courts of Oyer and Terminer, passed its several readings. It allows $90 for every six days they were officially engaged, and $100 to the Clerk of Judge Fowle.

The ordinance to amend the charter of the Governor's Creek Transportation and Mining Company passed the third reading and was ordered to be enrolled.

A resolution was introduced by Mr. Satterthwaite, and adopted, continuing the Commission appointed by the Governor, to inquire into the condition of the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal Company, and empowering them to send for persons and papers.

The ordinance to extend the time for sheriffs and tax collectors, for making settlement for taxes, to the first of January 1867, was taken up, on motion of Mr. King, and passed the second reading, after considerable discussion. The vote, on the call of the yeas and nays, stood yeas 61, nays 34.

The ordinance was then, on motion of Mr. Logan, made the special order for Wednesday next at 10 o'clock.

At the hour of 11 o'clock, the Constitution and amendments thereto were taken up, being the general order for that hour.

On motion of Mr. Moore, of Wake, sections 8 to 12 were amended by striking out the words "white" and "white persons," and "free white," provision for the qualifications intimated by these words, being incorporated in a separate section in another place.

Section 13 was also amended, on his motion, by striking out the same and substituting therefor six other sections, defining and limiting the powers of the two Houses of the General Assembly.

Mr. Howard moved that section numbered 16, of these amendments, which provides for the presidency of the Lieutenant Governor over the Senate, be stricken out; and the Convention refused to strike out, by a vote of 18 affirmative to 76 negative.

Section 8 was amended by making the qualification of Senators to be, thirty years of age, one year's residence in the district, and a landed qualification of three hundred acres, or a freehold of not less value than one thousand dollars.

The discussion of section 9 to fix the qualification of members of the House of Commons, consumed the remainder of the day's session.

[Our regular Reporter having been detained from attendance upon the Convention, on yesterday, we had to obtain an abstract of its proceedings from another source. That abstract, we are aware, is very meagre and imperfect, but we will endeavor to supply deficiencies hereafter,—especially as we learn that some racy doings transpired, pending the consideration of the clause of the Constitution fixing the qualifications of State Senators.

THE NEGROES AND THE COTTON CROP.—Letters from Alabama speak of a growing disposition to complain on the part of those freedmen who accepted "a share in the crop" as a recompense for their labor, instead of a fixed rate for wages. This is mainly the case on plantations where the prospects of a yield are poor, which the freedmen, being not slow to discover, offer as an excuse for leaving, in hopes of better luck elsewhere. The consequence is, that crops which might possibly turn out better than expected, are left at a most critical season to be lost altogether, it being impossible to secure help on such terms as the planters can afford.

The New Orleans Picayune learns from a gentleman who has recently traveled through Northern and Central Texas, that the people out there have harvested the finest crop of wheat they have ever raised. And now they have ploughed up the wheat fields and planted them in corn, and are cheered by the prospect of an excellent crop of that grain.

(From the National Intelligencer.)

Misconception of Northern Men as to the Situation in the South.

A late number of the Washington Chronicle reports a speech of Mr. Ashley, of Ohio, in the House of Representatives, on the much-agitated topic of "reconstruction," in which occur the passages following:

"I know there are men in the South everywhere capable of filling all the offices. My judgement has been strengthened on this point by many letters received during the war and since.

There is another beautiful incident which I must not omit. Last summer, when the Convention met in North Carolina, in response to the President's proclamation, to reorganize a constitutional State government, Mr. Reade, the President of the Convention, on taking the chair, uttered words which thrilled the continent. I have no language to tell you, Mr. Speaker, how they touched my heart as I read them on the shores of the Pacific. I know that every loyal man in this nation called down benedictions on his head. These are his golden words:

"Fellow-citizens, we are going home. Let painful recollections upon our late separation and pleasant memories of our early union, quicken our footsteps toward the old mansion, that we may grasp hard again the hand of friendship which stands at the door; and, sheltered by the old homestead which was built upon a rock, and has weathered the storm, enjoy together the long, bright future which awaits us."

Sir, every loyal Representative in this Hall stands ready with open hand to day to welcome all who thus speak from the heart; and, sir, whatever of local interest or of prejudice or of passion may have carried an erring brother into this rebellion, it he but set his face toward the old homestead, uttering such brave words as these, I will run to meet him afar off, and for him the fatted calf shall be slain."

The orator goes on, it is true, to proclaim his desire for the establishment of universal negro suffrage, which he only relinquishes because public opinion will not tolerate it as yet, and gives his full adhesion to the plan of the Reconstruction Committee. But, from the above language, it is manifest that Mr. Ashley regards Mr. President Reade as a gentleman of undoubted loyalty, and is "running to meet him afar off" in the work of reunion. And, speaking for an assembly where no one rises to contradict or correct him, he gives assurance that every loyal Representative in the House stands ready with open hand to welcome all who thus speak from the heart, &c. Now, these are generous words, spoken by one exhibiting throughout the speech a candid and manly character.—But why, Mr. Ashley, have you not, in fact, given this welcome and slain and eaten the fatted calf long ago? If Mr. Reade had been elected to Congress, you would have been estopped to deny admission to him; and the people of the State do not differ from me in their estimate of his fitness to represent them. They have shown their confidence in him, not only since, but during the late unfortunate war, pending which he served them for a time in the Senate of the Confederate States, and afterwards as a judge of the Superior Courts of law and equity. Since the peace he has been elevated to a seat on the bench of the Supreme Court. Like two-thirds of his fellow-citizens, he embarked in the cause of the rebellion after the secession of all other Southern States, under pressure of a supposed necessity, against the convictions of his judgment as to constitutional right, or the sufficiency of the causes which had actuated other States, gave an honest support to the contest while it raged, and sincerely accepted the result when the decision of battle was against it. He possessed the confidence and respect of the people of the State, before, since, and during the war, because of the quality you ascribe to him of sincerity in acting and in "speaking words from the heart." But North Carolina has elected no man to either House of Congress, so far as your correspondent is informed, who did not belong to the same political organization with Mr. Reade before, during, and since the war.

If, then, the matter is resolved into a question of sincerity in now supporting and yielding obedience to the Constitution and laws of the United States, on the part of persons in the South who are appointed to offices or representative trusts, as Mr. Ashley plainly declares by the case of Judge Reade, which he has chosen for illustration, the States are no longer to be denied representation, but each individual appointee is to be adjudged on his own merits.

It is to be presumed that Mr. Ashley knew what had been Judge Reade's course during the war, as well as since the peace; and designed to exhibit a proper spirit of justice and magnanimity by overlooking the past, by reason of his present acquiescence in duty to the Government. If not, and he now discovers that the iron rules of tests and disqualifications insisted on by his friends in Congress would proscribe Mr. Reade, and such as he, is it not a reason why, in candor, he should take back his sweeping assertion, that, to his knowledge, there are loyal men (meaning those who could abide the tests in question) everywhere in the South capable of filling all the offices. In the absence of any Representative who could at once have corrected this error, a citizen begs, through your columns, to say, that without any pretension to so near an approach to omniscience as that made by the honorable member, he believes that assertion contains a mistake and a delusion; and, that if it were true, the course of proscription which it is made to support would not be approved by one-tenth of the people of

NORTH CAROLINA.

Reconstruction---The Radicals and their Ends and Aims---The Object of the Party Attained, &c.

[Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.]

WASHINGTON, June 16.

The adoption of the senatorial constitutional amendment by the House was a matter of foregone conclusion. But there will be an opposition in that body, of greater or less strength, to the bill reported from the committee of fifteen for carrying the proposed amendment into effect. This bill requires the assent of States to the terms of admission offered as a condition precedent to their representation in Congress, either in whole or part. It is introduced to set aside entirely the President's plan of representation for the eleven States. Mr. Raymond and others oppose it, as unnecessary, and calculated to make a false and damaging issue before the people, who are becoming daily more and more clamorous for the complete restoration of the Union.

If they pass this bill, whether Congress can override the consequent veto or not, they will make an issue which the radicals are afraid to meet. They are, just now, in a quandary upon this point. They think they can get over everything except their refusal to recognize loyal representatives from the late seceded States.

The Democrats, from policy, will be willing to see the Republicans pass the bill. It will render the condition no worse. The entire Congress project of reconstruction will fail, for almost every seceded State, and a number of the always loyal States, will reject it. It can do no harm, therefore, and may do much good, to provide by law, excluding, in effect, the seceded States from all participation in the government councils. It is perfectly certain that in no anticipated or probable event the republican majorities of this Congress will, even at the next session, admit any member or representative from any one of the States that seceded, without compliance by the State with the terms now proposed and required.

Congress has nearly completed the labors of the session. Their object is attained—to make up an issue upon which the party can maintain its power in Congress for two years more, as the next Congress will be the President-making Congress. If the Radicals carry that, they will be secure, even at the cost of another revolution; for, without a resort to revolutionary measures, they cannot exclude the Southern States from their voice in the election.

THE DISPUTE IN THE HOUSE.

Whenever Mr. Harris, of Maryland, rises in the House, he creates a sensation. If he does not seek it, the House sometimes thrusts it upon him, as was the case in the last Congress when he made but one speech, and was declared an unworthy member and expelled. He rose to-day for the first time since his re-entrance into Congress, and made a speech on reconstruction, in which he flopped fairly over to the Thad. Stevens doctrine, and maintained that the Southern States were not in the Union and were not, therefore, entitled to representation. He went so far as to declare that he should vote against the reception of the credentials of any man claimed to be elected to Congress from the South. During his speech, nearly all the members gathered around the speaker and listened intently to every word that fell from him. On his concluding, a spicy debate sprung up between the Democrats and Radicals, during which Messrs. Eldridge and Le Blond worried Dawes and others not a little. In fact, they drew out of the latter a confession that after all it would have been better to have sent the credentials of Southern members elect to the regular Election Committee, instead of their debate and burial in the Reconstruction Committee.

Ladies' Memorial Association.

A MEETING of the Ladies' Memorial Association, for the County of Wake, was held on Saturday afternoon, the 16th inst., at the house of Mrs. L. O'B. Branch, the President of the Association, where a large number of ladies and several gentlemen attended.

The Committee, appointed to prepare and report a Constitution for the government of the Association, made a report which was unanimously adopted, the preamble of which was so beautiful and appropriate that we take the liberty of transcribing a portion of it for publication:

Whereas, The intelligence and virtue of a people are rightly judged by the veneration paid to the memory of their dead, "for grief for the dead virtue can ne'er reprove," and whereas, North Carolina's dearest treasure is now, and will ever be, the memory of her departed heroes: Then is it meet, that while mourning over the past, so full of painful recollections, and looking into the future, shrouded with darkness and gloom, she should, with a mother's aching heart, mark with some suitable memento the last resting place of her noble sons who fell in defence of her soil and by her command; and the heart of that North Carolinian which throbs not at such memories is unworthy of a last resting place beneath her everlasting pines.

To consecrate some spot sacred to our heroic dead, should be the dearest wish of every Southern heart. We may be poor, but enough is left to prove our hearts rich in the treasures of gratitude and affection. Humble though the grounds may be, adorned with no storied urn or sculptured pillar, they will, by the strength of patriotism and love, loom up as the loftiest obelisks on which are inscribed the deeds of a hundred hard-fought fields.

To this mournful task the women of the South have devoted their every energy. Whilst he lived it was her's to cheer the departing soldier, supply his wants while facing a resistless foe, soothe his dying moments and administer comfort to his departing spirit; let her last labor of love be to collect his remains within the sacred enclosure, where they may be watched over by the jealous eyes, and cared for by the loving hearts, of those for whom he so freely gave up his life.

1. With these views the women of Wake County have organized themselves into a Society to be known as "The Ladies' Memorial Association of Wake County."

2. The officers of the Association, to be elected biennially, shall be a President, four Vice Presidents, Secretary and Treasurer, constituting a Board of Managers,—with them to be associated six gentlemen, appointed by the Board, and meeting with them, to be called "The President's Council."

3. The Board shall be subject to the call of the President, four forming a quorum.

4. The duties of the President shall be to preside at the regular and called meetings of the Association and the meetings of the Board, calling the latter together whenever she may judge best. Those of the Vice Presidents, to preside in the absence of the President and perform such other duties as the Society may require.

5. The duty of the Secretary shall be to keep a record of all the proceedings of the association and of the Board, reading them at each successive meeting.

6. The duty of the Treasurer shall be to receive, take care of and disburse, under the direction and by order of the President, all funds of the association, keeping and rendering a faithful account of the same.

7. There shall be an annual subscription of one dollar, the payment of which shall constitute membership; the payment of twenty dollars constituting life membership.

8. There shall be half yearly meetings of the association, to be held in Raleigh, on the first Monday of April and on the first Monday of October in each year; one third of the members, whose names appear upon the books, constituting a quorum.

9. It shall be the duty of the President, by the advice of the board of managers, to call special meetings of the association, whenever, in their opinion, the same may be necessary.

10. All vacancies in the board of managers shall be filled by the board, until the next regular meeting of the association.

11. The objects of the association shall be, at as early a day as their funds may permit, to transfer to some suitable lot or lots, hereafter to be designated, the remains of every Confederate Soldier now lying within the limits of Wake county, except when the relatives of the deceased prefer the remains should not be disturbed, and adorning and beautifying the same and for all time to come giving them their loving attention and care.

The Committee appointed to select a public spot or spots for a burial ground made a report suggesting several suitable localities, and a Committee consisting of three ladies and three gentlemen was then appointed to select between the places designated.

Mr. George Whiting appeared before the meeting, tendering the services of a number of young men, formerly belonging to the Confederate army, to aid the association in carrying out their objects; and the thanks of the association were tendered to Mr. Whiting and his associates.

After transacting some other business the meeting adjourned.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Richard H. Smith, Chairman of Halifax County Court, invites proposals from Builders and Architects.

See Publishing Card of Messrs. Nichols, Gorman and Neathery. These gentlemen have, probably, the most extensive and the best arranged Book and Job Printing Office in the State, and execute all kinds of work in the most artistic manner.

See announcement of Commencement exercises at Kittrell's Female Institute. Also, announcement of opening of the Fall session of this excellent Seminary.

Watson again offers great attractions in his line.

THE CROPS.—The editor of the Salisbury Banner, after a visit into the surrounding country, speaks in gratifying terms of the promising character of the crops. Most of the farmers are cutting their wheat, which is much better than has been expected. The oat crop is described as excellent, corn of good size and growing rapidly, and cotton and tobacco looking well.

In parts of Craven county, late heavy rains and hail did no small injury to the growing Cotton.

GENERAL NEWS.

STATE AND NATIONAL BANKS.—An important conclusion, it is stated, was arrived at in meeting of the Senate finance committee on Friday afternoon, to the effect that the contemplated tax upon the issue of the State banks shall be postponed from taking effect for one year. At a meeting of the committee on banking and currency, the same day, it is stated, a resolution was passed fixing or rather confining the capital of national banks to one million dollars. This will be the limit hereafter allowed to any one institution.

NO CHOLERA IN THE COUNTRY THIS SUMMER.—It is fast becoming the general opinion among medical men that we are to have no cholera in this country this summer. Able medical practitioners and journals pronounce the character of the epidemic changed from what it was in former years and say that it is not so apt to spread as formerly. The health of this city is unusually good, the continued cool weather is favorable for health, and should the Board of Health discontinue its efforts to frighten the people by magnifying every case of diarrhœa into cholera we shall probably entirely escape its ravages.—New York Herald.

The Washington City Republican (Adm.) of Thursday says:

Fifty thousand copies of the report of the committee on reconstruction are to be printed at the expense of the country, and the franking privilege is soon to be set in motion, and the land is ere long to be flooded with this made-up, one-sided, prejudiced, and partizan concoction. This does not at all surprise us; we have always regarded the committee itself as a caucus creation for political purposes, and its report is nothing more nor less than an electioneering document.

The richest men and estates in Boston are reported as follows: Estate of Aug. Hemenway, $2,406,000; Nathaniel Thayer, $2,362,500; estate of John Bryant, $1,500,000; Sears's estate, $1,742,500; David Sears, $1,401,600; Moses Williams, $1,271,500; estate of E. Frances, $1,010,700.

Telegraphic despatches from San Francisco, dated the 12th inst., state that both parties claim the Oregon election by a majority of about six hundred. The returns of the election in Washington Territory show large democratic gains. The entire democratic ticket in nine Counties is elected, and it is believed to be so in four others.

We learn through a lady who had the pleasure of an interview with Mr. Davis at Fortress Monroe, last week, that he himself informed her his health had sensibly improved, since the opportunity for exercise and sleep has been afforded him.—Rich. Enquirer.

One Charles S. Dunlap got himself into jail, the other day, at Zanesville, Ohio, for going through the country and poisoning the mouths of horses, then suddenly appearing as a horse doctor, and offering to cure them for so much.

A man, named Campbell, has appeared in Washington, prepared to swear that, as a witness before the commission which tried Mrs. Surratt and others, he swore falsely to statements implicating Mr. Davis in the assassination of Mr. Lincoln.

Mr. J. B. O'Meagher, the Paris correspondent of the London Times, gets a larger salary than Secretary Seward, besides a furnished house in one of the best quarters in Paris.

Mr. Bancroft is completing his ninth volume, which will include pretty much all that is recent in American history not already mentioned in the late Lincoln Eulogy.

A float of 8,000,000 logs, covering ten acres, and managed by forty men, is expected at Lewiston, Me., this month.

The cemetery at Andersonville, Ga., contains 12,912 bodies, Federal and Confederates.

Ulysses Grant will be ubiquitous Grant if he visits all the places where he is expected.

A. T. Stewart has agents abroad purchasing works of art for his new house in Fifth Avenue.

A sweet little Montreal lass, only sixteen, has eloped with a "harmy hoficer."

Green Clay Smith, of Kentucky, has been nominated by President Johnson Governor of Idaho.

Hon. F. W. Seward, son of the Secretary of State, "is to be the next Governor of New York;" so says the Philadelphia City Item.

The Radicals are fond of calling the President "A. Johnson." He is The Johnson—the definite article.—Louisville Journal.

A portion of the cargo of the Shenandoah was sold in New York on Tuesday.

GOLD RISING.—Gold is on its march towards sixty, and may not stop there. The causes are numerous, apart from the facts that a speculating ring combines to advance it, and that the Treasury is temporarily out of the field of competition, The depression and panic in England still continue, and no one can say that it will not affect this country to some extent. The loss produced by the fall of cotton must fall upon American shippers to a great extent. The effect of the impending European war may be more damaging to European finance and commerce than we have supposed, and the apprehension of it prolongs the money disturbance in England. Only fifteen millions of our Government securities have been returned for sale since May last; but upon the occurence of war there may, for a time, be a further return of them. They will be readily taken up here at panic prices; that is, at a less rate in gold, perhaps, than we took for them.

Gold must advance for still another reason. The public knows that this Congress will do nothing to reduce the volume of irredeemable paper currency below nine or ten hundred millions.—Nat. Intelligencer.

AN OPINION ABOUT FIGHTING.—We clip the following from General D. H. Hill's new magazine, "The Land we love:"

A general officer riding along two days after the retreat of Burnside, stopped to warm at a fire where a group of Cobb's Brigade, which had defended the stonewall, was lying in all the listlessness of the abandon after a fight. The officer had on a common soldier's overcoat, and was welcomed as a cavalryman to the fireside. A country lad, a farmer boy at home, gave him a graphic description of the fierce assault and terrible repulse, in his own simple style, ending his narrative with his ingenious comments upon fighting in general.

"I have hearn men say they were spilin for a fight, but I never did spile for a fight. Stranger I've been in every fight with my regiment, but I never did like fighting. But when we was killing them Yankees so purty behind that ar wall, and they wasn't hurting us, I was rale sorry to see 'em run. And I tell you, Mr. Stuart's man, that was the only time I ever did like fighting."

Mr. Stuart's man thanked him for his narrative, mounted and rode on, reflecting upon certain furious war speeches he had heard from men whose warlike exploits in the field had not yet become the theme of poetry and of song.

Financial Matters.

NEW YORK, June 17.

The imports for the past week exceed $7,000,000, of which there was $4,000,000 of Sugar, Tea and Coffee. The excitement in Gold has been intense for several days past. Four or five of the heaviest stock speculators have lost fortunes in that time by throwing their money and influence against the rise.

A London letter to a banking firm here says the specie arrivals are an immense thing for American credit. The amount sent from America is everywhere admitted to have saved general bankruptcy in England. Other letters are very much to the same effect.

The Petroleum and Venango Banks at Franklin, Penn., have instituted an action against ex-Auditor General Henker, and through him, against the State of Pennsylvania, for the recovery of the $1,250,000 U. S. securities deposited with the Auditor General as security for the circulating medium of those Banks. The facts, as stated, are these: The firm of Culver, Penn & Co., were in the habit of taking notes of the Petroleum and Venango Banks for cancellation at the Auditor General's office, where they received a like amount of bonds for that which they so presented. It is alleged that the parties, thus receiving these bonds, were neither agents or officers of bank. These bonds, instead of being sent to officers of said banks, were taken to New York and hypothecated by Culver, Penn & Co. It is alleged that it was without the authority of the Banks, and that it was an embezzlement for which the Auditor alone is responsible. Warrants have been issued and officers are now in Venango county to arrest the parties implicated. The condition of the banks is now in the course of an official investigation.

OBITUARY.

At his residence in Wake County, on the 5th inst., SETH JONES, Esq., in the 82d year of his age.

The deceased had attained a ripe old age in the County of his birth, in which he was much respected and honored, and departed surrounded by an affectionate family, and by friends who sympathize with them in their affliction. Seth Jones was the son of Nathaniel Jones, of White Plains, Wake County. He was the last of several brothers who were well known in this County, and who, in their day and generation, were very useful as citizens and as honored public servants, and respected and esteemed by their neighbors.

The deceased had frequently served the people of Wake County in the State Legislature. He was always true to his pledges and principles. He was a useful and respectable member of that body at a time when our best public men conducted the administration of the State government; when promises by public men, if made sparingly, were seldom violated; when professions of economy and of devotion to popular rights, were not lightly uttered for the purpose of securing political success; and when the stern virtues that characterized our revolutionary ancestors were still exerting a beneficient influence on the public service. But Mr. Jones devoted his energies for the most part to agriculture and its kinred sciences. It was observed by Dean Swift that "he who made two blades of grass grow where only one had grown before, was more useful to society than the whole race of mere politicians." Mr. Jones, as a practical farmer, prospered and grew rich on land by no means fertile in its natural condition; and by his patient industry, his enterprise, his excellent discrimination, and his attention to his blooded stock, and his fruits of various kinds, placed himself, though not versed in chemistry, or in knowledge of soils acquired from books, at the head of the farmers of his County. He was, we believe, the earliest raiser of blooded cattle in this part of the State. He excelled in the variety and lusciousness of his fruits. He was also a grower of cotton on a large scale, for the most part on land enriched by a judicious application of fertillizers. And in these respects, as well as in others, without ostentation or any affectation superior information in his calling, he set an example the present generation of young men would do well to follow.

But it was in his hospitable manson, surrounded by his amiable family, that his character manifelted itself in its most attractive features. He seemed never to know that he had done enough, in his positive, good-humored, but not obtrusive manner, to make his guests feel themselves at home. The writer of this, who knew him long and well, cherishes the most agreeable recollections of his steady friendship through every change. He was an honest man and a patriot. He served his generation faithfully, and rests in hope. His afflicted family, and his friends, in various parts of the State, will always cherish fondly the recollection of his good qualities as a man and his sterling worth as a citizen. COM.

A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics or the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the so called remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disconcerting power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhœa Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 43 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

These Life-giving remedies are now given publicly to the world. For over a quarter of a century of private practice the ingredients in these

LIFE-GIVING PILLS!

Have been used with the greatest success. Their mission is not only to prevent disease, but to cure. They search out the various maladies by which the patient is suffering and re-invigorate the failing system. To the aged and infirm a few doses of these valuable PILLS will prove to be

A VERY FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH,

For in every case they add new life and vitality, and restore the waning energies to their pristine state.—To the young and middle-aged they will prove most invaluable, as a ready, specific and sterling medicine. Here is a dream realized, that Ponce-de Leon sought for three hundred years ago, and never found. He looked for a fountain that would restore the old to vigor and make youth ever

An Eternal Spring!

It was left for this day and hour to realize the dream, and show in one glorious fact, that magic that made it fair.

THESE FAMOUS REMEDIES

Cannot stay the flight of years but they can force back and hold aloof, diseases that might triumph over the aged and the young. Let none hesitate then, but seize the favorable opportunity the offers. When taken as prescribed—

FOR BILLIOUS DISORDERS

Nothing can be more productive of cure than these Pills. Their almost magic influence is felt at once; and the usual concomitants of this most distressing disease are removed. These remedies are made from the purest

VEGETABLE COMPOUNDS,

They will not harm the most delicate female, and can be given with good effect in prescribed dose to the youngest babe.

FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS

And all eruptions of the skin, the SALVE is most invaluable. It does not heal externally alone, but penetrates with the most searching effects to the very root of the evil!

DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS.

COTTON GINS,

MANUFACTURED BY
W. G. CLEMONS, BROWN & CO.,
COLUMBUS, GA.

WE have received the manufacture of Cotton Gins in this city, and will be prepared to fill orders by 1st June next. As we shall not be, as heretofore, represented by traveling agents, parties wishing our Gins, will confer a favor by sending in their orders at an early day. As owing to the demand, we shall be unable to keep a stock in the hands of our local agents, as it was our practice before the war. All business transactions being now reduced to cash, our sales will be made on the basis of ready pay.

Our Gins are too well known to require any special notice or commendation; we believe they are unrivaled in the chief points of excellence which go to make up a superior machine, namely: Speed light draught and good sample.

Our DOUBLE CYLINDER GINS will be found superior to the single cylinder, when parties have steam or good water power, to give them the necessary speed. In all cases when this can be done, we recommend them in preference to the single cylinder. If, however, indifferent or insufficient power is used, they will not do as well as the single Gin.

Messrs. DeROSSET & CO., Wilmington, N. C., are our general agents for the State of North Carolina.

W. G. CLEMONS, BROWN & CO.

Columbus, Ga., April 24 '66.

We will give prompt attention to orders for the above celebrated Gins from any part of the State. The price is five dollars ($5) per Saw at the Factory, and five dollars for each Gin will only be charged to purchasers for transportation to this point.

TO THE MEMORY OF MAJOR GEN'L STUART.

It is proposed that the officers, non-commissioned officers and privates of the Cavalry Corps and Horse Artillery of the late army of Northern Virginia shall erect a monument to the memory of the late Maj. Gen'l J. E. B. STUART, their gallant and beloved Commander.

Having been appointed by the "Stuart Monumental Association," Agent for this section of North Carolina, I will receive the contributions of said officers and privates. Any other persons who may desire to do so are also invited and requested to subscribe.

All subscriptions will please be forwarded at once
